

The Hate Virus and The Love Virus

A Creative Project by Emilia Sameyn

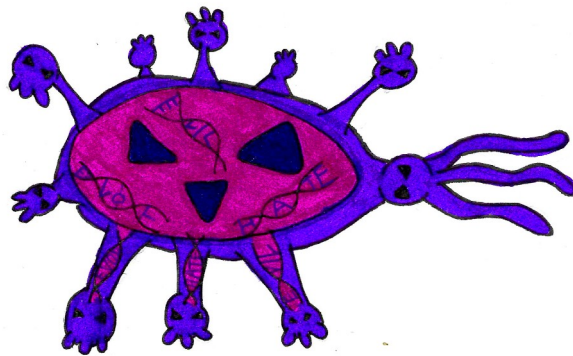

- Fiction -

I was brainstorming online with some people. For every human that has been alive, it is clear people can be quite hateful sometimes. One only needs to watch their television, open their phone or newspaper to see; every day there is a story about murder and war. It is as if: people have been affected by a hate virus?

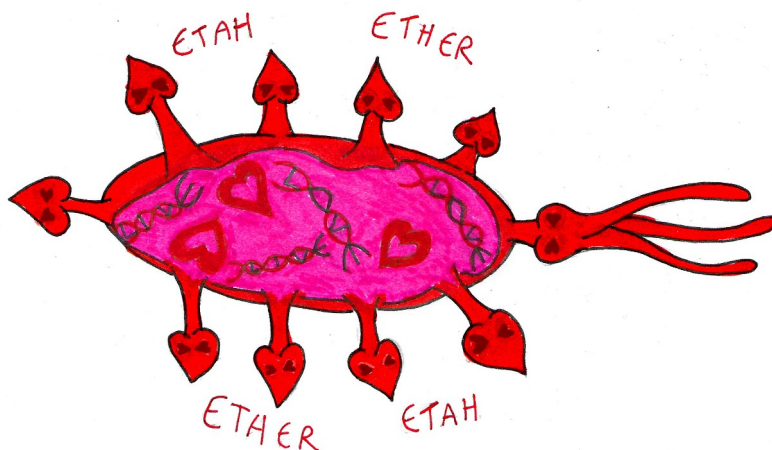

What if there was a Hate Virus, could one take a Hate Virus and deconstruct it? Change it into a Love Virus to then spread across the world, infecting, blessing everyone with love, so people will start accepting one another, cooperating with each-other instead of fighting all the time?

Let us transform the Hate Virus into a Virus of Love!

THE HATE VIRUS

THE LOVE VIRUS

We have succeeded! The Hate Virus has successfully been transformed into a Love Virus. How have we done it? Well, first we need to look at the structure of the Hate Virus: In its coding we see the words 'Hate' and 'Evil', by simply reversing the code we create new DNA sequences like 'Etah' and 'Live'. The 'Etah' becomes just ether, aka aether a gas element that just disappears into the air. Then we turned 'Evil' into 'Live' an affirmative statement of life. A virus with this code will give life energy to the people and other creatures it infects. With a bit of tweaking we can bend the 'i' in 'Live' into 'Love'. There, the task is complete, and as you read this the virus has already spread to millions of people. Perhaps you already caught it! If not, go outside, spent some time with other humans or pets, or maybe do some self-reflection to discover love was inside you all along!
